Vol. 3

March-ing Ahead.

We hope that the winter has been kind to all of you—here in Boston we are celebrating a mild winter and are eagerly awaiting the arrival of spring. With spring also comes the arrival of the April edition of O Magazine, where you will find a short article about Helping Hands: Monkey Helpers! Be sure to pick up your copy.

Plans are already moving ahead for the 2016 Monkey Helpers' Annual Food Festiva!—be sure to save the date—Saturday, October 22, 2016. We are excited to once again be partnering with Bidding for Good to host our online auction. We will be looking for items for the auction over the next few months and would love your help! Remember, the online auction has participants from all around the world, so you can help no matter where you live. Get in touch if you would be interested in helping to build our auction catalog or becoming a sponsor of the event.

And finally: Watch those mailboxes! Our print newsletter was mailed this week. Not on our mailing list? Send us an email and we will add you.

Celebrating Young Philanthropists

Helping Hands service monkeys are small creatures who make a big difference. These young philanthropists do the same. Today we celebrate the efforts of Declan and Zoe, who prove that the size of your heart is what matters.

Monkeys in a Minute

We often get asked if the monkeys at The Monkey College like to interact and play with one another when they are not in training. In the latest episode of Monkeys in a Minute, Playing Together, our Director of Training, Alison Payne, talks about the excitement of watching her monkeys at play.

Meet a Monkey - Mandy

Mandy is a funny little monkey in training whose playful antics keep our staff and volunteers entertained.

And the winner is...

Helping Hands monkeys are great at learning and performing tasks, but not always great at posing for pictures! Be sure to follow us on Facebook and Twitter to vote for the image that will be featured in next month's bloopers section.
