March-ing Forward!

March is an aptly named month, don't you think? We march towards winter weather, longer days don't happen until daylight saving time begins on March 11th, and springtime.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.

March is also Multiple Sclerosis Awareness Month. A service monkey can assist someone with tasks that seem simple, but can be life changing to someone with a mobility-limiting illness such as MS. In December, Helping Hands and our monkey helper recipient, Corinne Peters were featured in Neurology Now magazine. It is not often that we are featured in medical journals, and were proud to have our story featured in the March issue.

Real Talk MS, which you can read about below.

Helping Hands elephants are just around the corner. Did you know that we house-60 elephants?!

We are better than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

About 40% of our recipients are living with paralysis due to conditions other than spinal cord injury. And thanks to our wonderful donors, we are able to provide them with a service monkey at no cost.

Helping Hands were also recently featured in the podcast, Helping Hands部分 of the show.